

Dun Well

Recipe

Hook: Dry Size: #16-18
Thread: Yellow, 6/0
Wing: Natural Light Tan Deer Hair (not stacked), tied in a single post style.
Tail: Wood Duck Flank
Body: Yellow Poly Dubbing
Hackle: Ginger or very Light Brown.

Tying Tips: The author of this fly does not stack the deer hair for the wings. Tail can be substituted with ginger hackle fibers. The best deer hair for the wing post is from the neck of the deer. Tail can be substituted with died mallard. The fly can be tied in most any size to accommodate most hatches.

Fishing Tips: Designed to fish the ‘sulfur dun hatch’.

Historical Note: This fly was first tied in the late 1970’s. It was designed for the ‘sulfur dun’ hatch on the Boardman River, near Mayfield, Michigan. I later renamed the fly the ‘Sulfur Dun’ for my recent book: “Fly Tying Illustrated: Flies You Can Count On To Catch Trout.”
